Strategy of Human Resources in the federal government 2014 – 2016 Smart Competition – International Path-finding

In the framework of its attempts to achieve the trends of our rational government aiming at consolidating human capital in federal ministries and entities and firmly establish a recent and integrated statutory system for human resources management in the federal government in accordance with the best international practices, the Federal Authority for Government Human Resources launched the second session of the strategy of human resources in the Federal Government of 2014 to 2016 after it had been approved by the Council of Ministers.

The strategy aims at consolidating the national competences and developing federal human capital and effective planning of human resources to upgrade productivity in federal entities. Further, the strategy aims a disseminating institutional culture and creating a stimulating work environment and guaranteeing the rendering of all administrative services in accordance with criteria of quality, efficiency and transparency.

One of the prominent initiatives and projects the Authority intends to complete and launch through this session of the strategy of human resources in the federal government is the establishment of a centre for dialogue and knowledge communication in the human resources to achieve international path-finding and development of smart applications within the human resource management system of the federal government “Bayanati” and issue of a human resources procedures manual and preparation of a survey of wages and salaries in the labour market and launching of a system of job evaluation and description in the federal government and follow-up of the rational government's instructions with respect to the emiratization and replacement and the initiative of the government knowledge gate "Maaref".

Meetings of Strategic Partners of the Authority in 2013

The Authority actively attempted to strengthen relationships with its strategic partners in all sectors and highly appreciated their roles that contributed to its present standing with respect to the uniqueness and high productivity and achieve its achievements and kept them in its vision and strategic objectives as a goal and tool.

One of the aspects whereby the Authority appreciated its partner was the organization of a ceremony to honour such partners as government institutions, private sector and media. The ceremony showed the most prominent achievements and human resource strategy in the federal government for 201 – 2016.

A dialogue took place during the meeting between the leaders of the Authority and its strategic partners for hearing their observations and suggestions on the conspicuous initiatives of the Authority and its strategic projects at the level of federal government. Inquiries about the system, policies and statutes of the human resources applied at the level of federal government were answered at the meeting.

"Bayanati" is a Platform for the Smart Applications of the Human Resource Procedures

For the second successive year, the Authority has continued to develop and activate the human resource management system of the federal government "Bayanati" and given it special importance due to its dimensions at the state level, in general, and the federal government, in particular, because it renders great services to the human resources departments in the ministries and federal entities and to the employees themselves. The said system covers the entire human resources procedures, salaries, wages and help them automated with effect from appointment of an employee up to his retirement and establish a consolidated database at the level of federal government in order to support the decision makers and upgrade the performance of the human resources department on the basis of modern concepts and international standards.

The system provides the employees of the federal governments with a set of electronic services including, leaves, performance appraisal, promotions, manpower planning, attendance system, working hours, penalties and electronic self-service and helps the employees of the federal government examine their job and financial particulars.

Bayanati secures salary payments of the federal government's employees through a consolidated system and provides a statistical source for the entire manpower in the federal government which constitutes a reference for decision makers and in the planning process and make the employees share in concluding the human resources procedures through the self-service gate allotted to every employee.

The year 2013 witnessed remarkable development in the operation of Bayanati system as it has been used in a number of independent federal entities. Further, an alert system was launched through SMS and email as to some procedures and Abu Dhabi Emiratization Council (Tawteen) with Bayanati system to recognize job status of the citizens want to register in the council database while being employed by the federal entities which use Bayanati system.

Of Bayanati projects set for 2014 are the electronic performance management system for employees, Bayanati training and developing system, automation of human resources policies and laws and activation of smart reports in consistence with human resources indicators in the federal government, development of alert system through SMS of the employees and email and establishment of an electronic library for training courses needed by the employees of the federal government.

Smart Applications

The Authority has been careful to cope with smart government initiative. This is evident in the fact that it converted many of its services into smart applications which constitutes a qualitative addition and serves about 84,000 employees in the federal government. Of the applications Bayanati system provides are smart services as the employees are enabled to submit, cancel or follow up or cancel applications for leaves, know the balance leave in terms of days, browse personal file, curriculum vitae, see particulars of monthly salary, obtain legal advices from specialized team of the Authority in this regard and the electronic performance management system.

Further, the government gate initiative for knowledge (Maaref) will be connected with the smart application to help the employee know the training courses offered by the providers of training services preferred by the federal government and workshops and add them to the list topics they prefer. This application automatically reminds such appointments and provides them with a map of the locations where such sessions are held and how to reach them.

The list of applications includes a discount program of the federal government's employees "Emtiazat" which renders special discounts to them as they will be able to see the entities and stores giving such discounts and their locations on the map.

Of the other services in the application is "Ma Qasart" card which is an electronic card of appreciation an employee gives another employee through the smart application, whereby he appreciates his efforts and efficiency as to his performance of a job. An employee who had the largest number in one month of the said card will be honoured at the level of federal government.

Performance System Increases Productivity and Rewards Achievement

The performance management system for the federal government's employees is one of the best practices of developing human resources the federal government attempts to establish as the said system connects individual objectives of the employee with the institution's objectives and then the strategy of the human resources in the federal government and UAE Vision 2021.

It is a process whereby the performance of an employee is appraised comparing with the main objectives and indicators of performance and it is a practical process for the entire planning stages in the government entity and stabilizes opportunities of justice, transparency and equality among employees.

This system, which was launched at the beginning of 2012 at the level of federal government is designated to connect performance with the reward of achievement and excellence results and improvement and upgrading the employees' productivity and encouragement of individual achievement under the umbrella of collective work and development of continuing learning culture and increase of the opportunities of vocational development and help the federal entities determine and assess efficient and excellent employees.

2013 witnessed a first event of its kind at the level of federal government as His Highness Sheikh Mohamed Bin Rashid Al Maktoum Vice President, Prime Minister and Ruler of Dubai (God protect him) in presence of

His Excellency Sheikh Mansoor Bin Zayed Al Nahyan, Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Presidential Affairs honoured 650 of the federal government employees who obtained results remarkably exceeding expectations in accordance with the classifications of the performance management system for the federal government employees (results remarkably exceeding expectations mean they meet the expectations and need improvement) out of 33,000 employees working in 18 ministries and federal authorities which apply the system.

The Authority started to convert into the electronic performance system instead of the paper system as the Authority operated the system in four federal authorities and connected it with the information management human resources system “Bayanati” in preparation of operating it in the entire ministries and federal authorities which operate Bayanati system in 2014.

The Training and Development System Enhances Performance and Upgrades Efficiency

The training and development system for the federal government employees the Authority launched at the beginning of 2012 is one of the important systems attempting to consolidate and develop employees in the federal government because it is an integral part of the human resources development system and essential pivot for achieving the human resources strategy in the federal government.

Since the system was launched, the Authority trained about 300 training employees in the ministries and federal authorities on how to apply the system, designating mechanism of training needs, annual training plans and individual development plans for employees in coordination with their direct seniors and necessity that each party must carry out the roles and responsibilities assigned to them in accordance with the procedures provided by the system.

The system aims at upgrading the efficiency of employees and providing them with skills and qualifications to achieve efficient performance (by the preparation of individual development plans for employees and help the ministries and federal authorities qualify them). The forms of training in the system includes training courses, study leaves, job cycling, developmental secondment, transfer, job shadowing programs, conferences, seminars and job succession.

“Maaref” Strategic Partnerships with Training Service Providers to the Federal Government

The initiative of government knowledge gate “Maaref” is one of the strategic initiatives of the Authority and it is the first of its kind at the level of federal government. The concept of the initiative is based on reckoning the best training service providers in the United Arab Emirates in accordance with designated standards and preparing a list including their names and making it available to the ministries and federal authorities. It is designed to know the training needs of the ministries depending upon their annual plans and negotiate with training service providers accredited by the federal government to present such programs and courses at reduced prices and free of charge. Further, it is designed to make memoranda of understanding with universities and colleges for producing academic programs at special prices for employees of the federal government and special training depending upon demand.

Further, the ministries and federal authorities will be able to choose training courses appropriate for the needs of its employees and assess such courses through the interactive website.

Human Resources Regulation in the Independent Federal Entities

Consolidation of Human Resources Concepts and Rules

Federal Authority for Government Human Resources launched the HR regulation in the independent federal entities because it wants to get all federal government institutions close to each other with respect to the human resources procedures as the entire employees of the federal government in their various position have fallen under an administrative system consistent with the general framework of statutes regulating the function of human resources.

The regulation, which has been implemented in 29 independent federal entities with effect from October 2013, has great importance because it consolidates concepts, general frameworks, bases and rules of human resources in the federal government and constitutes a joint work formula for all entities in consistence with the general principles of the Human Resources in the Federal Government and its Executive Regulation.

Human Resources Club

Pioneering Initiative and Genius Idea

The human resources club was established in 2010 to constitute an interactive platform and communication thinking and knowledge channel to put together interested parties and specialists in the government sector (federal and local) and excellently experienced people under one ceiling for exchanging ideas, expertise and solutions enhancing roles played by human resources departments and institutional services etc in various sectors in the state.

The club aims at creating communication thinking and knowledge base among seniors and specialists in the human resources and general departments in the United Arab Emirates. Further, it aims at transferring experimentation and experience among managers, specialists, experts, researchers and individuals interested to develop government work and human capital and review and convey the best practices at the local, regional and international levels and render excellently creative and successful solutions.

The club, whose members are 10,000, witnessed large activity in 2013 as its advisory council was constituted and organized five special seminars attended by 700 specialists in human resources from the government and private sectors.

Within its initiatives aiming at creating sound legal culture among all employees of the federal government at their various departments and sectors and making them aware of and learn the Human Resources Law in the Federal Government, as amended, and its Executive Regulation, and some of its articles which are frequently asked by employees of federal government, the Authority launched an electronic training program on the Executive Regulation of Human Resources Law in the Federal Government, which is a step embodying its dedication to cope with the requirements of the electronic government initiative.

The Authority made the program available to all employees in the ministries and federal authorities governed by the Human Resources Law and its Executive Regulation, especially the employees of the human resources departments and researchers and legal executives on its website www.fahr.gov.ae. They can have access to information and answers to questions they need because the program provides for samples and information according to the Executive Regulation of the Human Resources Law through a system of a case demonstration and gives examples on it.

The program is excellent as it attempts to interestingly render information to break rigidity in the lawful article and simplify the presentation and content based on questions and legal cases received by the Authority during the past years.
