

Smart banking experience for federal government employees

A strategic partnership between the Federal Authority for Government Human Resources and Emirates NBD has been established to make banking easier and more convenient for federal employees. The requirement to submit salary certificates has been removed, allowing federal employees to access banking services smoothly and without complications.

This step comes in line with the government's direction toward zero bureaucracy and simplifying government procedures, in a way that enhances service efficiency and reflects the commitment of federal entities to providing a flexible and exceptional experience for employees.

What does this mean for you?

- Simplified procedures: Access banking products without the hassle of obtaining and submitting paper salary certificates.
- Enhanced efficiency: Enjoy faster approvals and less paperwork, giving you more time to focus on other priorities.
- Exclusive offers: Benefit from banking products and offers designed specifically for federal government employees.
