“Future Step” Portal

“Future Step” Portal
Your first step towards your future

The Federal Authority for Government Human Resources (FAHR) has launched the “Future Step” portal, an AI-powered platform designed to enhance practical training for fresh graduates and university students in federal government entities. The portal helps refine skills and prepare young talents for the future job market, in line with UAE Vision 2031.

What the Portal Offers:

- Access and apply for training opportunities across federal entities.
- Track applications and training progress online.
- AI-powered matching of skills to suitable opportunities for a smoother training experience.

Objectives:

- Support and qualify national talents.
- Develop practical skills for graduates and students.
- Enhance professional readiness.
- Foster a culture of experiential learning.

Training Duration: 3 months

Key Roles:

- Students/Graduates: Register, complete training, and document achievements.
- Federal Entities: Provide opportunities, supervise training, and evaluate performance.
- Educational Institutions: Coordinate academically and support students.
- FAHR: Maintain the portal and ensure its strategic goals are met.

Using the Portal:

Trainees go through several stages, starting with creating a personal account and browsing available training opportunities, followed by submitting an electronic application, obtaining entity approval, beginning the training, monitoring performance, and finally submitting achievement reports for the program. Please note that training does not guarantee direct employment and should not conflict with academic schedules.

- To view the Student Training and Operations Guide for the federal government, click here
- To access the “Future Step” portal, click here.
