Your Time Counts Initiative

The Federal Authority for Government Human Resources announced the launch of the “Your Time Counts” initiative in collaboration with the Ministry of Community Empowerment and the Emirates Foundation, aiming to promote a culture of volunteerism among Federal Government employees and encourage them to dedicate their time and expertise to serving the community.

Objectives:

The “Your Time Counts” initiative aims to:

- Encourage Federal Government employees to participate in organized volunteer work.
- Promote a culture of giving and social responsibility within the government work environment.
- Enable employees to contribute their expertise and skills in service of the community.
- Support national efforts to promote volunteerism and maximize its positive impact on society.

How to Participate:

Federal Government employees can participate in the initiative by:

1. 1. Registering on the National Volunteer Platform.
2. 2. Browsing available volunteer opportunities on the Platform.
3. 3. Selecting a suitable volunteer opportunity and participating in it.
4. 4. Documenting volunteer hours electronically through the platform.

Recording Volunteer Hours:

Volunteer hours for participating employees are documented through the National Volunteer Platform. These hours are also counted as motivational points within the Federal Government employees’ performance management system “Injazati”, in recognition of their community contributions and to encourage continued participation in volunteer work.

- To view the mechanisms and guidelines for volunteer work for Federal Government employees, click here.
- To learn more about the initiative and how to participate, click here.
